

For more than forty years Sotheby's Institute of Art has been preparing students for careers in the international art world. We offer six Master's degree programmes in Contemporary Art, Art Business, Fine and Decorative Art, Photography, Contemporary Design and East Asian Art as well as a range of Semester courses, Short Courses, Executive Education courses for art professionals, and most recently a new series of Online courses which can be taken as distance learning. Students get a rare inside look at the business of art while exploring both the scholarly and practical sides of the art world, including the skills and professional connections necessary for successful entry into many art professions. We have over 6,000 alumni worldwide, many of whom are working in a variety of art-related careers.
